J. C. Harvey of Harrison spent Tuesday in town.

All the logs which have been in the lake above Crockett bridge, have been brought down through the bridge. The last came through Monday night. This will be of particular interest to boat owners at the lake as the bridge will be open to travel for the entire season.

Dr. William Drake is soon to have a new boat house built at his cottage, "The Weymouth," at the lake. The boat house is to be 25x16 feet, with a French roof. Mr. W. Sampson has charge of the work and is being assisted by Henry Knight and H. H. Hosmer.

George Yeaton of Oxford returned from the C. M. G. hospital last week. He is getting on nicely. We understand he had his leg opened from the knee to the ankle and the bone scraped without taking ether. It is reported that Mr. Yeaton wanted to see what the doctors were doing.

The play at the Norway Opera House on Tuesday evening was no larger attended. The show was by Dixey's Comedians and was purely comedy. The trained dogs and birds were special features and did some unusually fine stunts.

Among the musical selections were from Boston, accordion and ball selections. A party of men, J. E. Stevens, H. M. Stevens, W. W. Swift, John Croin, Walter Dingley, J. A. Currier, M. E. Lyseth, F. A. Mann, W. E. Stevens and J. E. Stevens, Jr., all of Auburn, were guests of the party.

Shepard at Hill Crest. They are all connected with the Dingley-Foss shoe factory where Mr. Shepard is superintendent.

The Caducues, the paper published by the Norway High school students, is now being printed and will be issued at the close of the school year. This is the largest number of the year, the paper being issued semi-annually and contains much school material. There is full account of the commencement exercises and a number of the graduating parts. This number will be well illustrated.

Capt. and Mrs. E. G. Swartz arrived at the Beal's Tavern this week. Later they are to have the Mollon cottage at Lake Pennessawasee where they had for summer seasons before. Last summer they were at Lake Winnepesaukee in New Hampshire, and the past winter in Boston.

The kitten, that was given to be a fine looking cat, and has returned with them.

Reception to Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Nichols.

Last Thursday evening a reception was tendered Rev. Herbert Nichols and wife by the members of the Norway Methodist church in the church vestry.

Both the main audience room and the vestry had been especially decorated for the occasion and presented a most attractive appearance. The affair was entirely in charge of the young ladies of the church and reflected great credit on them.

Promptly at eight o'clock with Marian Gibson as organist the receiving party proceeded by the four ushers, Helen Dunn, Beatrice Stone, Gertrude and Grace Howard, entered the church.

With Mr. and Mrs. Nichols in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Calef, representing the Epworth League and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen, the official board of the church.

The following the reception the following program was rendered:

Confirmed Proof

Residents of Norway Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of this vicinity who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Norway kidney sufferers.

Mrs. Georgia Thayer, Pleasant street, South Paris, Me., says: "The public statement I made several years ago regarding Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. I am glad to confirm it. This remedy helped me when I was suffering from kidney trouble. I advise other people who have kidney complaint to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial." 20-21

A Tribute to Our Soldiers.

Written for the Advertiser.

'Tis the month of buds and blossoms, Unfettered summer on her way, 'Tis the time of tender memories, For it's now Memorial Day.

Here and there the soldiers gather, Growing fewer with the years, Now their steps are slow and feeble, Now their eyes are dimmed with tears.

Once they were so strong and valiant, Marching to the drum and fife, Pressing forward in the battle, Mourning in the soldier's life.

O'er old memories now they ponder, Review the old scenes once again, Look upon their comrades' faces; 'Tis the day of days to them.

Now they are on the battlefield, Where the cannon roared, their vengeance, And the whistling bullets fell, Where they fought so long and well.

Now they march, slow and weary, Through the country of red soil, And they suffered in those old days, Only a faint echo of the snow.

Along the beautiful Potomac, Now the armies quiet lie; Now the great battle is high, Now at Lookout Mountain.

Then Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, Then the last march to Petersburg, Thence to Richmond on the James, Then the great Southern leader, Taking command with the sword.

Five days later came the tidings, Which made sad the hearts of all, Had another brave soldier died, Had another brave soldier fall.

In memory the bells are tolling, When the rolled upon that day, When the great battle of Gettysburg Was laid from earthly cares away.

Thus at last the war was ended, After suffering and pain, Thousands were among the wounded, And the blood was on the slain.

O'er the many thousand soldiers, Of that band so tried and true, There is only a little group of veterans, Who wore the faded coat of blue.

Let us honor them while living, With our flags and garlands gay; Honor them with songs and speeches, And thus keep Memorial Day.

Spring Has Come. "Spring, spring, beautiful spring," 'Tis what the robins sing, Early every morning, Now the birds are singing, And the dandelions gold, The leaves are stirring.

See the bluebird on the wing, All the budding orchards ring, With their singing; All along the winding road, Bend the willows with a load Of tassels swinging.

The little sparrow is in town, In his suit of golden brown, In his suit of golden brown, In his suit of golden brown.

But his little mate is dressed Plainly far from the rest, In a striped bathing suit, Out in yonder apple tree, The oriole sings right merrily, His breast is gleaming.

On a twig of the maple crest His mate on her dainty nest, Is so busy building, Down in yonder clover patch, See the partridge chickens scratch, In the clover.

Soon the mother partridge gray, From her young brood flies away, Little fox misleads, Out from green ferns by the brook, Shyly up sweet violets look, Blue eyes gleaming.

Here the columbine holds up, Her lovely daisy button, Little cup, In a striped bathing suit, The bee is humming.

Little children come with me, Would you the treasures see, Spring is in the air, Spring is in the air, Spring is in the air.

Every child must surely know! Where the sweet meadows grow 'Neath the stately old pine tree Out in yonder apple tree, They are growing.

From his quiet winter abode, How the sleepy blinking toad, Big eyes gleaming, In the blue and sunny sky Sails the dainty butterfly, With beauty gleaming.

What the Country Girl May Give Her Friends.

In almost every country are old-fashioned herbs and lavender, carefully dried for home use. They are a bonanza who yearly sends a dried box of herbs made by the following formula to use as a moth preventative in her woollens and furs instead of evil-smelling moth balls: Rosemary and sage, each a half pound; tansy and thyme, each four ounces; freshly ground cloves, two tablespoonfuls.

If one wants to be generous to a careful housekeeper who thinks much of paper filled with lavender and tied loosely at the top with ribbon makes a nice gift. Lavender with a little lemon verbena added makes delightful sachets, which can be as elaborate as one wishes, and answers every purpose.

One hardly thinks of hops as available for a Christmas gift, but a pillow made of this herb would be gratefully received by a sleepless friend. A fine lawn makes a good covering for such a pillow, which need not be more than eight inches long and six inches wide.

The harvest from the fields, in the way of jelly and jam, holds forth wonderful possibilities, especially if one has captured the tang of the wild strawberry, wild cherry and black currant, the wild Hawthorn and plum, the barberry and elderberry, for even the most exclusive city shops do not have them for sale.

And then there are the beautiful ferns which grow almost everywhere and have but to be taken from the woods and cared for; the winter ones can be taken up at any time.

One girl last year who was familiar with all kinds of ferns sent many of her friends a book of common ferns correctly named and accompanied by appropriate quotations, and the girls who live on farms and in small villages have opportunities the average city dweller might regard with envy.

Putting up Bird Houses.

In my last article dimensions of nest-boxes were given. This one gives directions for putting them up. These directions are not arbitrary, but merely suggestive.

The chickadee seems to prefer a low nesting place, but one pair occupied a knot-hole 60 feet up in a limb of an elm. Nesting boxes must be at least twice as high as the width, with a 1 1/2 inch entrance, and placed from 6 to 10 feet from the ground are more likely to be occupied by bluebirds, if they have some choice, than are cottage shaped bird houses, placed higher on poles or roofs.

Such bird houses have a greater attraction for tree swallows than for bluebirds, but either bird may use a box or hole built up for the other.

Wrens or chickadees may take a bluebird or swallow box, but neither swallows nor bluebirds can take wren or chickadee boxes if the entrances are only just large enough to admit the latter.

The National Association of Audubon Societies has recently published a bulletin on attracting birds about the home in which different kinds of nesting boxes and bird houses are illustrated for the benefit of those who wish to make them.

If the nesting box has an entrance hole placed high up under a roof or over projecting over the hole at least two inches it may face in any direction, particularly if it is never likely to be penetrated much into the interior. If the hole has not these advantages it should never face the northeast or the south, as cold rains and hot sun are fatal to fledglings. It is well not to have the bottom of the box too tight, that rain if it drives in may run out.

Ventilation is desirable and this may be obtained by boring two small holes in each of the two opposite sides of the box high up under the overhanging roof and stopping them with corks until the young birds have hatched when the corks may be removed.

Martin houses may be put up late in May with some hope of getting martins, as at that time most of our English sparrows and bluebirds have made their nests, and the young martins which do not nest until late in the season may settle in the new Martin houses. Such houses should never be placed on or very near trees, but should be upon poles 15 or 15 feet high or higher. The pole may be placed on the roof of the building.

Chicago people have started successful martin colonies in bird houses set up on the roofs of city buildings. Success is likely here if the English sparrows can be kept out. A river valley in a farming country is a favorite spot for martin. The entrance holes for martins should be large and near the floors of the rooms, the rooms about eight inches square.

Bird houses placed on poles are often preferred by the birds because cats and squirrels do not trouble them so much as when the boxes are placed on trees. Thorny vines or bushes may be better and trained close about the poles to keep off cats or the pole may be made of iron pipes with a flange at the top on which the bird house may be screwed. A wide sheet of zinc tacked around the pole like a tight sleeve or set under the pole house like a hat brim will keep cats or squirrels from any bird house set on a wooden pole. Where cats, squirrels and English sparrows are numerous the chances are that the very few young birds will be raised as they will either be killed in the house or caught on the ground before they are able to fly well.

SLEEP DISTURBING BLADDER WEAKNESS BACKACHE-RHEUMATISM, QUICKLY VANISH

Even Most Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After A Few Doses Are Taken

Backache, urinary disorders, and rheumatism, are caused from weak, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter out the impurities and keep the blood pure, and the only way on earth to permanently and positively cure such troubles, is to remove the cause.

The new discovery, Croxone, cures such conditions because it reaches the very roots of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and cause rheumatism; it neutralizes the uric acid so it no longer irritates the tender membranes of the bladder and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, lifeless kidneys so they will filter and sift all the poisons from the blood, and drive it out of the system.

So sure, so positive, so quick and lasting, are the results obtained from the use of Croxone, that three doses a day for a few days are often all that is required to cure the worst case of backache, regulate the most annoying bladder disorders, and overcome the numerous other similar conditions.

It is the most wonderful preparation ever made for the purpose. It is entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give desired results, regardless of how old you are, how long you have suffered, or what else has failed to cure you.

Tobacco That Comes To You Cut Up, Comes Dried Up

Nature never intended anything she grows to be cut up until just before it is used. Everybody knows that food should be fresh—and so should tobacco.

Sickle Plug comes to you fresh—with all the original flavor and moisture pressed into the plug. You slice up the tobacco as you use it, and the last pipeful smokes as cool, sweet and satisfying as the first—because the natural leaf wrapper keeps Sickle Plug fresh. The chopped-up tobacco that comes in packages cannot help getting dry, smoking hot and scorching.

Try a plug of Sickle today—get more tobacco, by having no package to pay for—and get more enjoyment by smoking fresh tobacco. At all dealers.

The G. A. R.

So long as there are members in our G. A. R. Posts who can walk or ride we want a Memorial Day parade with them in it, right up in front where their honorable service entitles them to be.
We want our boys and girls to have something more than the cold type of history, no matter how eloquently written, to inculcate in them the fire of patriotism, and love of Country as long as it is possible.

The Grand Army veteran is left to us as a heritage. When he is no longer with us his great achievements will be a heritage still, but yet only a memory against his natural presence. There will always be loyal and patriotic sons and daughters to go to the schools and decorate the mounds, and men with the power to move with pen and voice the coming generations but the Grand Army man will be gone, so, while he is with us let us have Memorial Day parades.

When he is gone we will look to the sons of veterans, the Spanish war veterans and those of us who know and feel the need of keeping bright the fires upon the altar of liberty.

There must be a few comrades left in the town where I lived in my youth for the year I left town the ranks of the veterans, who assembled every twelve-month to put flowers and flags on the graves of their dead comrades had been greatly reduced since the time when as a frocked faced boy, I first followed the procession in blue to the burying-grounds and back to the hall where folks had gathered to listen to an oration.

And in the years that have elapsed during my absence these men have been dropping out one by one until I sometimes wonder if there are now enough of them to parade on Memorial day.

If I were to go back on that day, I fear that it would be a sad home-coming to me, for most of the departed I knew personally and as a youngster had sat for hours at a time and listened to their reminiscences of days and nights on the march, in camp and the battlefield, while I am sure that the more handful of old soldiers remaining to do the honors would perhaps move me to tears.

Probably no place in the State of Maine just now offers a more striking illustration of what is to be within a few years the fate of "the gratest army that ever wielded the battleaxe of God," as was once happily put in an address. In the cities and the larger villages, where the posts have a big membership we do not as yet notice so much the thinning of the ranks though we will a little later on--out in a town like the one I came from one is forcibly impressed with the fact that it will not be many years before the last of the boys of '61 will have stood in some cemetery and been oppressed with a loneliness that admits of no description.

No other comrade to trudge beside him as he enters the gates; no other comrade to carry the flag of the organization of which he has so long been a member; no other comrade to show the great grief which must be his as he contemplates the scene before him and recalls the days that were, when so many of them had broken bread together either before or after they had performed the sad duty that fell to them annually.

What a mighty panorama of the past will be before him as he muses there among the tiny flags and the wreaths, oblivious, I dare say, to the curious and at the same time pitying assemblage about him! But that time must come.

A New Version.

New Year's morning as I lay awake in the dark, says a woman in the American Magazine, I made the resolution: "I will not be good!" I knew it would mean a long, hard fight, but I set my teeth and vowed it. I had been too good. I had been kind and unselfish, instead of firm and self-respecting. I had made a martyr of myself for my husband, my children, my servants--and I had spoiled them all.

"I will not be meek, I will not be self-sacrificing, I will not be overworked. I will not be put upon!" So ran my litany.

"The clock struck half-past five. My younger baby woke and cried in her adjoining room. Her older but no better sister called out peremptorily, 'Ma-ma!' My spirit flew toward them. I set my teeth and held myself in bed. Soon they were both crying violently.

"Their father awoke and regarded me in surprise, 'Aren't you well?' he asked.

"Oh, perfectly," I said.

"Well, aren't you going to fix their milk? They seem to be hungry," said my husband anxiously. He seldom heard his children cry.

"Poor babies!" said I, "they aren't going to have their milk this time of morning any more. Perhaps they will get used to it." I was aching with the desire to rush to them.

"Presently my bewildered husband looked at his watch and spoke: 'Have you looked at the furnace yet?'"

"No, dear," said I, lying there calmly. It had been my self-appointed task to attend the fire in the early mornings. I knew at last that my wicked 'goodness' had been making my really admirable husband inconsiderate and lazy. But, oh! how it hurt me to see him get up in the cold.

"When he returned he said, 'Guess I'll have to buy a thermostat!'"

"Good idea," said I.

"From that morning I put my resolution into ruthless practice. I let myself be spoiled; I asserted my preferences; I stopped taking dark meat. My husband responded with wonderful amiability. My children who had been most difficult to manage, soon stopped their fretful crying and learned to play by themselves.

"Very rarely now do I have to repeat my litany: 'I will not be meek, I will not be self-sacrificing, I will not be overworked, I will not be put upon.'"

Women, we venture to assume, no longer ask, "Is my hat on straight?" At least, if they ever ask the question and get an affirmative answer they proceed at once to correct the mistake.

He Deposited His Cash.

The messenger and news boys of the present age are about as keen as they make them and the financiers of the future ought to be recruited from their ranks, although the new child labor laws may destroy this condition before many years. The mysteries of banking even don't phase many of these kids today.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer tells a story of the ingenuity of one of these coming financiers that is interesting. A messenger boy went to the bank the other day to make a deposit on his account, which was a steadily growing one. He handed out 50 cent and said he would like to add it to his balance. The teller, with more than his customary haughtiness, informed the boy that the bank would not receive deposits of less than $1.00.

The kid didn't waste any time arguing about it. He walked over to the desk, wrote a check for $1.00 and presented it to the paying teller's window. "It was honored, of course. Then the little financier said: 'I wish to deposit $1.50.'" And that deposit was accepted. And the teller ground his teeth.

KEEP BOWEL MOVEMENT REGULAR.

Dr. King's New Life Pills keep stomach, liver and kidneys in healthy condition. Rid the body of poisons and waste. Improve your complexion by flushing the liver and kidneys. "I got more relief from one box of Dr. King's New Life Pills than any medicine I ever tried," says C. E. Hatfield of Chicago, Ill. 25c at your Druggist. 19-22

After serving the public for over 30 years, Hastings Bros., have sold their hardware business at Bethel to G. L. Thurston & son of Bethel. It was back in 1880 that W. W. Hastings purchased the business of S. A. Brock and took his brother into partnership with him, but for the most of the time the firm members have been Messrs. W. W. and T. P. Hastings.

Doubtless, it will be hot enough for us all by and by.

Cheap Paint.

The cheapest paint is the one that goes farthest and wears best; there is most in a gallon of it.

What is a quart of milk worth? Depends on the milk.

So of paint, depends on the paint. Devco is worth the top price, whatever it is. Poor paint is worth nothing at all; you've got to pay your painter $3 or $4 a gallon for putting it on; and it isn't worth it.

Devco goes twice as far and wears twice, or three times or four times as long.

The cheap paint is Devco at the top of the market.

F. P. Stone, Norway; Emery & Shaw Co., West Paris and F. N. Wright, South Paris, sell it.

THRIFT IS A NATURAL INBORN CHARACTERISTIC WITH SOME PEOPLE; IT IS AN ACQUIRED HABIT WITH OTHERS

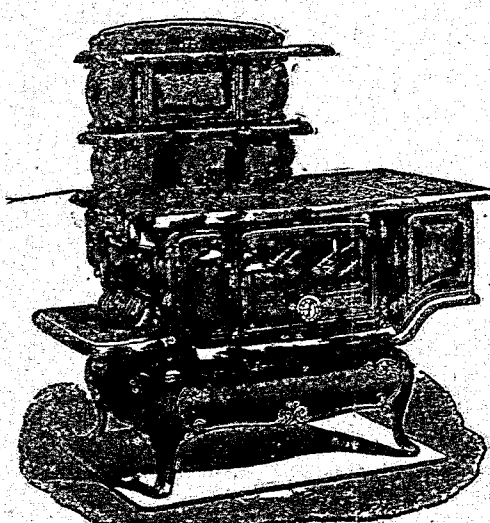

If the majority of people realized that 97 per cent. of the business men meet reverses at the age of forty and are obliged to again rebuild their fortunes from the very foundation, the habit of thrift would gradually become more general. It would soon be regarded by the majority as a requisite of vital importance for a man early in life to establish a sinking fund and systematically lay aside for this purpose.

Why not provide against this by opening an account with this Bank? You can then deposit all money received and pay each bill by check. In this manner you will have a record of all receipts and expenditures and can establish a sinking fund to provide against reverses and old age.

We invite you to deposit your money, whether it be cash or checks, in this strong National Bank and start systematic saving. There is no expense to you in opening an account.

HAVE GOOD HEALTH

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Old Reliable Spring Tonic.

Don't let the idea that you may feel better in a day or two prevent you from getting a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla today from any drug store and starting at once on the road to health and strength.

When your blood is impure and impoverished it lacks vitality, your digestion is poor, and all the functions of your body are impaired.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest known blood tonic. It will build you up quicker than any other medicine. It gives strength to do and power to endure. It is the old standard tried and true all-the-year-round blood purifier and enricher, tonic and appetizer. Nothing else acts like it, for nothing else has the same formula or ingredients. Be sure to ask for Hood's, get it today, and begin taking it at once.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Frank Shaw, who has been ailing from some unaccountable disease for a number of years, but not disabled from attending to his farming business until the present year, has been confined to his home by much ill health as to cause much anxiety to his friends. A few days since he was surprised by the passage of a tape worm several feet in length. The attention of his family physician was called to the unexpected occurrence, when the doctor advised administration of proper medical remedies, two other parts of the same worm which caused his protracted sickness were expelled from the system of the suffering patient, making in all about forty feet of tape worm that he appeared to solve the mystery so many years or months impending. Mr. Shaw was seriously prostrated by the effects of his last medications and was in quite an alarming condition for a time, but it is now believed he will soon be restored to his former condition of health.

Harry Haynes recently purchased four choice Jersey heifers of Orris Decker.

Planting of gardens and preparations for field farming are lively these long fair days.

Eugene Nelson has erected a handsome veranda on the east side of his house, and has painted his buildings in tasteful colors, mainly yellow.

The 9th contest in the course of entertainment for the year held at Bear Mountain Grange, came off on Saturday evening, May 16. Sister Jennie Haynes was the assigned leader and proved her eminent fitness for that office and as manager of the proper starting of the pieces to be enacted. She presented the following program:—

- Piano trio.....
- Sisters Sanderson, Hamlin and Kilgore Original poem.....
- Song, What d'ye mean, you lost your dog.....
- Original essay, Feeding the soul.....
- Piano solo.....
- Mrs. Edith Bartlett Monologue.....
- Sister Little Mary Keating Grace Journal.....
- Edited by Sisters Haynes and Riggs Comedy humaine, solos.....
- Mrs. Little Mary Keating duet, Field have to get under, get out and get under to fix up his automobile.....
- Albert Hamlin and Morton Kimball Tableau, The silent quartet.....
- McIntire, Millett, Riggs, Hamlin Accordion.....
- Farce, Girl wanted, Yarnose.....
- W. H. Haynes For pleasing variety and genuine humor, the entire program was indescribable, irresistible and quite impossible to beat.

Supreme Judicial Court.

May Term, 1914.

A verdict for the plaintiff for $1200 was returned in the case of James Crosby vs. Maine Central Railroad Co. This was a suit brought by James Crosby of Rumford for the death of his 11-year old son, Howard Crosby, who was killed March 9, 1912. The boy was riding home on the Maine Central train, with Mr. Memont and a boy friend, when the train was struck by a train at the Lincoln avenue crossing in Rumford Falls village. Mr. Memont and the Crosby boy were killed, the other boy escaped serious injury. George A. Hutchins and Matthew McCarthy for the plaintiff, Chas. Carter of White & Carter, Lewiston, and Hon. George D. Bisbee of Rumford for the railroad company.

Tuesday afternoon and most of Wednesday morning were taken up by the case of Fred J. Newton vs. Fred Hanks. Hutchins and Bisbee and Parker were the counsel. This is a civil suit for damages on account of assault, all the parties being residents of Dixfield.

Charles Howe vs. Martin Richards, appellant, with Blanchard and Bellevue counsel, was opened Wednesday noon.

The case of Almira B. Richards vs. Della Metcalf, same by default. The defendant is in Canada and refused to appear. The Court assessed damages in favor of the plaintiff in the amount of $100 by consent of the counsel, Blanchard and Hutchins. The counter suit of Della Metcalf vs. Almira B. Richards was thrown out of court by the Justice.

PARIS.

Stone Wedding Anniversary. As a complete surprise, on the evening of May 1, about sixty relatives and friends met to extend their congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Stee of St. Louis. Hill on their thirtieth wedding anniversary.

Though much surprised, Mr. and Mrs. Stee, as always, were the cordial host and hostess and the evening was much enjoyed.

Several guests helped to entertain with music both vocal and instrumental. One song was composed by Mrs. Ethel Curtis and the music arranged by Mrs. H. P. Hammond especially for that evening.

The wedding bells were ringing. The wedding bells were ringing. On a breezy day in May. The robins they were singing. The robins they were singing. For all the world seemed brighter. And our young hearts grew lighter. As we traveled on together. On that bright and joyous day. We reached the preacher's cottage. Thirty years ago today. When the air was heavy laden With the fragrance of the May. We minded not the weather. As we pledged our vows forever. Then we journeyed home together. On that breezy joyous day.

Chorus. Wedding bells, wedding bells. Oh! what love their music tells. As over hill and over plain We listened to the music's sweet refrain. The wedding bells are ringing. For us again today. Just the same sweet melody. As when you and I together Were journeying on that day To the kind and dear old pastor. Who lived many miles away. The wedding bells are ringing. New joys for us today. Our friends are all rejoicing. In the good old fashioned way. Our hearts have all grown lighter. And our faces all seem brighter. As we celebrate our thirtieth Wedding anniversary day.

The party left as remembrances of the occasion very useful and pretty gifts of silver, linen and china.

Stacy Robbins, who has been employed in the Cascade mill between Gorham and Berlin, N. H., is in St. Luke's hospital at Berlin where he recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

P. R. Legendre and wife visited their daughter Mrs. Andrew Vermette at South Paris and their little granddaughter Emelia, returned with them.

W. G. Harlow, Miss Harlow and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Owens of Dixfield were guests of relatives here, Sunday.

Arlie H. Curtis and his friend, Bert Bonheimer of North Waldoboro, passed the week-end at Mr. Curtis' home. They left Sunday by auto, accompanied by Roy H. Curtis and Mr. Tyner of Maranacook, who joined the party here.

The last circle supper of the season was held Tuesday evening at Cummings hall. About 100 enjoyed the bountiful supper and also the pantomime of The Courtship of Miles Standish, which followed. The cast was:

Miles Standish.....A. A. Jenkins
John Alden.....Henry Shaw

BETHEL.

Mrs. Everett McKeen.

Tuesday morning, Mrs. Everett McKeen was found dead beside her bed about 8 a. m. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Farwell of Middle Intervale and was about 61 years of age. She was twice married and was, one son, Ralph Hebbard, of British Columbia.

In 1887 she became the wife of Everett E. McKeen and they lived for several years at Shelburn, N. H., later living for a while at Bethel and have resided in Bethel for about 5 years.

Mrs. McKeen is survived by her husband, one brother, Walden Farwell of Lewiston and a sister, Mrs. Hebbard, of Shelburn, N. H.

Mrs. McKeen had been an invalid for several years and though feeble, was about as usual when her husband went to his work and a little later was found by a neighbor where she had fallen, a victim to heart trouble.

Hon. W. H. Eastman of East Sumner was the guest of friends, Tuesday.

Rev. W. C. Curtis and wife are enjoying a vacation in the eastern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Dean of Lewiston are the guests of Mrs. Livonia Hughes.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Home Circle will be May 23, with Mrs. F. S. Longley.

The annual district meeting of Onward and South Paris lodges was held with the latter lodge, Monday evening.

V. G. of Rebekeah Assembly, Mrs. Virginia Colbrook of Bangor and Dist. Dep. Pres. Mabel Ricker were guests of honor.

Ten members of Onward Rebekeah lodge of West Paris were visitors. The degree was conferred upon two candidates by Sunset degree staff and a pleasing program followed including a piano solo, Doris Frost; two selections by quartet consisting of Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Wright, Mrs. F. L. Edwards and Wallace Kilgore, with Miss Frost at the piano; selections on the new piano player by Stanley Wheeler of South Paris. Harlequin ice cream and cake were served.

N. A. Stearns attended court in Rumford last week.

A. J. Stearns recently visited his children at R. R. Mayberry's.

Dexter Mills, road commissioner for this section of the town, is doing good work removing troublesome rocks.

There will be a joint business meeting of the young people's societies in the Methodist church vestry, Friday evening.

Friday, as Ed. Smith was hitching a chain to a rock while working on the road, the horse jumped and before he could remove his hand from between the chain and the rock the end of his thumb was cut off.

We hear of the death of Mrs. Helen Patterson, wife of Elvin Parlin of Bloomington, Ill. Mr. Parlin left Bethel last July for Hempdenville, Conn., where he was united in marriage to Helen Patterson, July 22nd. They went to Bloomington, where he is a professor of French and German in the Illinois Wesleyan University.

MR. LEWIS A. RIFFLE tells his experience with coughs and colds that lead to nervousness and debility.

Colds are often aggravated during the summer because inactive bowels and a stomach out of order are prime causes in keeping a cold from getting well. Fe-ru-na has very beneficial laxative qualities that neutralize such conditions. Its tonic ingredients tone up the system, and thus invigorate the stomach's functions to normal activity.

Mr. Riffle's experience is especially interesting at this time of the year because it shows the close relationship there is between a nervous breakdown and a neglected cold.

Fe-ru-na should be kept in the home at all times, that a cold upon its first appearance may be treated promptly and successfully. This often saves money and time, and what is more important, a great deal of vitality.

Mr. Riffle, of 753 Gautenbein Ave., Portland, Ore., writes: "I have found Fe-ru-na a most remarkable medicine for building up the system and for curing coughs and colds."

"I took it for four weeks a few months ago when I was all run down, nervous and debilitated, and it quickly restored my health."

"I always keep it on hand, as a few doses will cure a cold if taken in time."

People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Fe-ru-na Tablets.

EAST OTISFIELD.

Mrs. W. F. Smith visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Whitman, Sunday.

Mrs. Wallace Stone of Harrison visited a few days this week in this neighborhood.

HOW CHILDREN GROW

Children grow by nourishment—not overloaded stomachs or rich foods, but qualities that are readily converted into life-sustaining blood; too often their digestive powers cannot procure these qualities from ordinary foods which results in weakness, dullness and sickness.

If your children are under-size, under-weight, catch cold easily, are languid, backward, pale or frail, give them Scott's Emulsion which is pure medicinal nourishment. It sharpens the appetite, builds healthy flesh, firm muscles and active brains. Scott's is growing-food for children. Refuse alcoholic substitutes.

The Fact Remains

No amount of misrepresentation by the peddlers of alum baking powders, no juggling with chemicals, or pretended analysis, or cooked-up certificates, or falsehoods of any kind, can change the fact that

Royal Baking Powder has been found by the official examinations to be of the highest leavening efficiency, free from alum, and of absolute purity and wholesomeness.

Royal Baking Powder is indispensable for making finest and most economical food.
